MINERS TO QUIT THE SECOND DAY OF APRIL

South McAlester, I. T., Mar. 31.—On account failure of second joint conference of coal operators and miners at Indianapolis to reach a wage agreement covering the wages to be paid for various classes of mining labor after April 1 practically all miners and mine laborers in Arkansas, Indian Territory and Texas, involving between 12,000 and 15,000 men, will refuse to resume next Monday morning, April 2.

J. G. Puterbaugh, general sales manager of the McAlester Fuel Company, was seen at the company's general office here this morning and gave out the following statement:

"While a very large majority of our miners are entirely satisfied with the present scale of wages and would much prefer not to strike, it is altogether probable that they will all be obedient to the commands of the union's officials and refuse to return to their work on next Monday morning, and there will be for the present at least a complete shut-down of practically all in Indian Territory, Arkansas and Texas, as well as at the Northern mines, including Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. There may be a small quantity of coal produced from strip pit and small slopes, but this tonnage will amount to but very little."

School Exhibit.

Upon the approval of the school board Superintendent Hendrix, two weeks hence, will arrange an elaborate exhibit of public school work. A building down town will be secured and an interesting collection of pupils' written work and drawings will be placed therein for the inspection of the public.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS A NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Saturday morning the school board held a meeting in the city hall, and took some important action. They elected as superintendent for next year M. L. Perkins of Mesquite, Texas, and chose as principal Mr. Perkins' present co-worker at Mesquite, Mr. Berry. Both these gentlemen are reputed to be high-class educators. Mr. Perkins is a graduate of the University of Missouri, has travelled and studied in Europe, has the advantage of fifteen years experience in teaching and has taught seven years almost continuously at Mesquite with signal success. He visited Ada about two weeks ago and impressed members of the board quite favorably. Also the board decided to go in a body before the city council and urge the construction of a high school building and the appropriation of a liberal amount for the support of the city schools.

EVERYBODY SHOULD ATTEND RAILROAD RALLY TONIGHT

In accordance with the decision of those attending the railroad mass meeting Wednesday night, the citizens of Ada will assemble again tonight at the opera house to push the Canadian Midland proposition. Everybody ought to go and help boost. It is everybody's business, and a business which must not be neglected. There is no reason in having to hammer away for weeks on a good proposition like the one on hand. The business men of the town are absolutely a unit in the opinion that this is the chance of a lifetime for Ada. This being true, why should anyone lag back and endanger the success of the splendid enterprise? Help the work go on and go fast; it is easier, anyhow, to do a big job when you go fast. Go out tonight whether you have subscribed to the bonus or not; whether you can pay $500 or $5 or even nothing. Your very presence will assist—there's magic in mere numbers.

Davis in the Lead.

Little Rock, Ark., March 31.—With practically complete returns from sixty-two out of seventy-five counties Gov. Jefferson Davis has a majority of 2,072 over Senator James H. Berry for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. Senator Berry, at his home in Bentonville, again declined today to express an opinion as to the probable result, saying that he preferred to await further returns. In many of the counties the official count will be made tomorrow.

Returns from the Fourth Congressional District indicate the nomination of W. B. Cravens of Fort Smith for Representative in Congress to succeed John S. Little, nominated for Governor.

More of the Canadian System.

The Canadian Midland railroad, which is to be built from Kansas City to El Paso, has let the contract for construction between Muskogee and Lawton and the road is to be completed by March 1907. This section of the Great Canadian Southern railway will pass through Muskogee, Hampton, Wewoka, Sasakwa, thence across the Canadian river and on to Lawton. This is a part of the Great Canadian Southern railway projecting from Winnipeg, Canada, to the Gulf of Mexico. The engineers are now locating the line from Muskogee to Hampton and from Hampton to Lawton the line has already been located and passes through Wewoka.—Seminole Capital (Wewoka.)

CONFEREES ARE FINDING IT EASY TO DISAGREE

Washington, March 31.—All of yesterday's meeting of the conferees on the statehood bill was devoted to a consideration of the Senate amendment relative to locations on mineral land in Oklahoma. This amendment provides that where any of the land granted by the act has previously been located and claimed under the mining laws shall afterward be found to be valuable for minerals, "such mineral claims may be perfected under the mining laws and the state may select an equal quantity of other land in lieu thereof."

This amendment was set aside, as have been all the amendments on which there has been serious disagreement.

The real crux of the controversy, the Foraker and Burrows amendments, has been left for the last. It will be discussed only after all the other amendments have been considered. When this will be, no one knows.

It is believed the House conferees are in no hurry as, if they have to surrender, they desire that it shall be late in the session, when in the confusion of other matters, the Speaker's discomfiture will be overlooked. The conferees will hold three meetings next week, and possibly by the end of that time the outlook will be more clearly defined.

INDIANS ORGANIZE A PARTY OF THEIR OWN

Okmulgee, I. T., March 31.—This morning an announcement was made in the House of Kings and the House Warriors that there will be a caucus of the Indian members of the council tonight, and every one is expected to attend. This caucus will be a secret one and no one except Indians by blood will be permitted in the caucus.

The caucus is called for the purpose of organizing an independent party to make a political future for the Indian after statehood comes.

This is the beginning of what promises to become one of the most important political moves in this country and if it succeeds will have a bearing on the politics of the new state for years to come. It proposes to organize the Indians into a party which shall be independent of the two great parties and to demand recognition and offices from that party for which it casts its vote. The Indians standing together would unquestionably be the balance of power in the new state and the party that lands their support can get the offices. The voice of the Indian vote would be political recognition and a part of the movement is headed by

Ben Marshall, a prominent Creek politician. Identified with it are many prominent Indian politicians, such as Chief Porter, Colonel Robert L. Owen, Roley McIntosh, Wash Grayson, A. P. McKellop and others. In fact it is understood that there has not been an Indian approached who has not concurred in the idea.

LUNCHES WITHOUT PIE.

Some Delicious and Nutritious Sandwiches and Light Desserts Best—Heavy Foods Objectionable.

Sandwiches may well form the foundation of a well balanced cold lunch and a variety of fillings may be used. Any carefully cooked cold meat may be used, although pork and veal, being the hardest of all meats to digest, are objectionable, especially for children. Every housewife should strive to excel in making fine quality bread, biscuits, muffins, etc. Bread for sandwiches should be thinly sliced.

Small loaves of biscuit dough or of yeast bread may be baked in corn cans, the small round slices being especially desirable for sandwiches. Brown bread sandwiches with filling of finely mashed, well seasoned baked beans are very nice, and should find a place in the lunch basket at least once a week. Meat for filling should be run through a chopper, or chopped very finely by hand, moistened with stock or sweet cream and carefully seasoned with salt, and a very little pepper is desired. Eggs placed in boiling water and kept hot, not boiling, for 20 minutes, then mashed with a fork, seasoned, and butter added to make a smooth paste are a delicious filling, also celery, chopped or sliced, and sprinkled with salt.

Nuts, especially peanuts, run through the chopper and simply moistened with butter form another kind sure to delight the children. This may be prepared and kept on hand in glass jars in cold weather. Seeded (not seedless) raisins washed thoroughly and run through the ever useful chopper, then placed on oil paper in a pan with perforated bottom and placed over a kettle of boiling water, with the pan tightly covered, and allowed to steam ten minutes, then put in glass jars will keep indefinitely and are always ready to spread between bread, biscuits or crackers with a piece of cheese, and most effectually takes the place of pie. Dates and figs are also nice used in the same way.

Dainty cup puddings of rice, tapioca, custard and squash or pumpkin prepared the same as for pies may be often baked with a large one for the table, making little extra work, and will be appreciated. The simplest water or cream sponge cake may be given occasionally and feed as an especial treat. Raw or nicely baked apples and a bottle of milk or cocoa are nice additions to the lunch basket.

The lunch should be put up daintily, each kind of food wrapped separately in oiled or buttered paper and a paper napkin provided. The child who is given simple, easily digested food will do his school work with far greater ease than one given a rich complicated diet that draws the blood from the brain to assist the overtaxed digestive organs in their laborious work. Wrong living is responsible for many a dull pupil, and thinking mothers everywhere are awakening to the fact.—Orange Judd Farmer.

DOCTORS WHO DIE EARLY.

The Principal Cause Is Said to Be Excessive Nervous Expenditure in Practice.

From the nature of his habits the physician is not subject to accidents, and, though he is brought into contact with infection to a greater extent than other men, his preventive means are successful and his mortality from infection is very low. Freedom from prolonged muscular strains and high blood tension apparently saves him from arteriosclerosis, but suicide claims many, and so do the drug habits acquired by the nervously exhausted. It has been said that three-fourths of French morphine users are physicians.

The cause of the physician's early death is evidently the excessive nervous expenditure, insufficient rest and defective nutrition, inseparable from his calling, with its broken and restricted sleep, irregular hours of work, rest and meals, the worry when lives depend upon his judgment and the lack of a day of complete relaxation in each week. The physician who sees his patients every day in the week, month after month, and cannot learn to forget them when he goes home, merely burns the candle at both ends. He violates the law obeyed by every other animal, that there shall be short periods of moderate exertion interrupted by longer periods of rest when repairs are made. It is not too much work as a rule, but scattered work, which prevents rest.

Lemon Cookies.

Four cupfuls of sifted flour, one tea-cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar juice of one lemon and the grated peel from the outside, three eggs whipped very light; beat thoroughly each ingredient, adding at the last a half-teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a teaspoonful of milk. Roll out as any cookies and bake a light brown.

Ginger Snaps.

One cupful molasses, one-half cupful sugar, one tablespoonful ginger, one teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful softened butter; flour to roll out thin. Heat the molasses and pour over the sugar; then add the other ingredients. Cut out in pretty forms and bake quickly.—N. Y. World.

Dance at the New Harris.

The ball at the Harris last evening was one that will long be remembered and never forgotten by those who assembled in the limelight of the spacious parlors of that beautiful inn.

It was past nine-thirty when the invited guests had assembled and the monotony of the partying day had been forgotten in the rapturous glide and rhythmic step of the light hearted merry-makers. It was an occasion upon which there was a concord of friendly glee, and there was that satisfaction, glee and contentment of children at play. The hospitable proprietor of the Harris and his estimable wife had levied a tax upon the maiden beauty of no less than five of the commonwealths of the great Southwest. One of our neighboring cities contributed a princess, as a hostage, in token of her subjection to the prowess of beautiful Ada's social superiority. The wit and splendor of lovely women and the big hearted chivalry of stalwart manhood combined to make such as happy and as welcome as the flowers in May.

The assurances by the departing throng of a pleasant evening which the host and hostess received would have convinced a doubting Thomas that life is worth living. A guest.

TAXATION OF RAILROADS AN APPROACHING TROUBLE

Muskogee, I. T., March 31.—With the passage of the Curtis bill will come a struggle between the towns of Indian territory and the railroads over the matter of taxation.

Under the present laws there is no way to assess and collect from railroads. There are twelve roads operating in the territory, and out of that number there is just one that is paying taxes, and that one is the Frisco. This is a voluntary payment and is made on the road as a matter of policy, said.

The Curtis bill provides that the city council of a town may collect taxes from railroads within its incorporated limits in the same manner that other property is assessed and taxed. It gives the city council the power to pass property immediately.

The law provides that the railroads may take the matter of assessment into the district court for adjustment in case they think they are assessed too high, but they must do so immediately after notice of assessment is given and not use the court as a means of delaying payment of taxes.

The question of taxation and valuation is one that is of great interest in Indian Territory just now, and one of the big items, of course, is the taxation of railroads. Under the Curtis act the towns will endeavor to levy and collect taxes immediately. Under statehood it will be impossible to collect taxes under a state law less than twenty months from now. This is going to bring the question of a system of valuation to the fore.

WHY KIDNEY DISEASE IS DANGEROUS.

Neglect of the First Warning Symptoms is the Prime Cause of so Many Deaths from the Dreaded Bright's Disease.

It is Easily Curable in the Early Stages.

Kidney diseases are so destructive to human life because they do not manifest alarming symptoms until the constitution is seriously weakened and the strength exhausted. Then, too often, the remedies employed by many physicians are of indifferent or doubtful value, and the patient rapidly sinks under the disease. The wisest course is to apply a reliable kidney and liver remedy on the first appearance of the symptoms. A little uneasiness in the small of the back, digestive troubles, bowel irregularities and disorder in the urinary organs are matters of small moment in the estimation of strong men and women, yet they have a serious meaning. They show clearly that the kidneys are suffering and need help, which must be forthcoming at once to prevent serious, perhaps fatal consequences. A few doses of Prickly Ash Bitters at this time would prove of incalculable value in restoring the weakened organs to health. An investment of one dollar in a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters when the disease is yet in the early stage will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills, besides the suffering that would surely follow should the disease be allowed to fasten itself in the body. The excellent curative power of Prickly Ash Bitters is not confined to the first stages of kidney disease. It is equally efficacious in severe or chronic cases. Physicians have used it as a last resort, in cases that defied their best efforts, with the most brilliant results, and it has shown its superiority over the many so-called kidney cures, now being loudly advertised, in instances innumerable.

Accept no substitute. Insist on having the genuine Prickly Ash Bitters with the large figure 3 in red on the front label.

Sold at Drug Stores, $4.00 per bottle.

PLIGHT OF THE SPINNER.

Occasions When a Business Man Is Forced to Speculate Against His Will.

"Were one to follow the footsteps of the average cotton buyer for the mill," writes the Textile Manufacturers' Journal, "he would find that immediately after the buyer had placed an order for a quantity of the staple he would tie himself to the exchange, or some other broker, for the purpose of covering the probabilities of the future market. In other words, the cotton buyer for the mill must protect his purchases by dealing in cotton futures. At the recent convention of cotton manufacturers, at Manchester, England, this question was thoroughly exploited, just as it was a year ago at the convention held at Zurich.

"If this is legitimate business, then our ideas of what constitutes business are altogether wrong. The idea that a manufacturer who anticipates an order or who provides the raw cotton material for an order already in hand must go into the future market in order to guard against any possibility of probability of a fluctuation in the price of raw material is too ridiculously absurd for a sane man to place in the category of legitimate business transactions. And yet the yarn spinner is compelled to protect himself in this way against the future. He would not deem it safe to take any contract of any considerable size without gambling on the future."

SKI CONTESTS IN MICHIGAN

Tournaments at Ishpeming Prove Attractive to Scandinavians from All Points.

Ski contests are becoming more popular every winter at Ishpeming, Mich., reports the Milwaukee Sentinel. Visitors from all over the northwest, especially from Scandinavian settlements, attend the tournaments at Ishpeming. Ishpeming is the center for ski contests in the United States.

A ski slide is a strange sight to most Americans, but ski is one of the great sports of northern Europe, and it needs no explanation among Swedes and Norwegians. A slide is a steep and slippery incline, with a slight upward slant at the bottom, where the runners leave the track. The person who slides down must make a jump off from a place 20 feet high at the bottom of the slide.

The point of a contest is to see how far one can jump off his chute. Men who are expert have been known to gain such speed in going down the incline as to jump 90 feet. Only those who keep their feet after making the jump from the raised platform can be counted in a contest. Recently an expert jumped 110 feet, but he could not stand on his feet, and so his record could not be entered officially.

All Used Up.

"I would like," he said, "to do something to cement our friendship."

"I'm afraid," she replied, "that you never can. You're so stuck on yourself that I don't see where any more cement is to come from."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Difference of Opinion.

The best man at the wedding is sometimes hard to pick out—of course, the bride may consider him the bridegroom, but the maid of honor would speak for the handsome usher, and the bride's mother for the rich uncle who gave the handsomest gift, and the bride's little brother for the caterer, so there you are.—Home and Abroad.

Realism.

Why is the cow purple in the picture? Because the girl's parasol is red. The cow, in fact, is purple with rage. This is precisely what is meant by realism in art.—Puck.

It is just as easy to get clothes that will fit you as clothes that don't, that is if you go to a place where they carry clothes that fit. The garments we carry we have especially tailored for us, by the Globe Tailoring Co. They fit. If you go in one of our suits to a party or to church no one will say of you: "Why she must have borrowed those clothes from a neighbor." We look out, too, for the kind of cloth we put into our garments. They wear well and fit well. What more could you wish for? A fair price. This we have an eye on, also. For $11.50 a fine appearing $20 suit. For $16.50 a $22 suit, very pleasing. If you wish to have your own spring suit for Easter made, then we are sure you'll like to look at our dress goods. MINERS TO QUIT THE SECOND DAY OF APRIL

South McAlester, I. T., Mar. 31.
—On account failure of second joint conference of coal operators and miners at Indianapolis to reach a wage agreement covering the wages to be paid for various classes of mining labor after April 1 practically all miners and mine laborers in Arkansas, Indian Territory and Texas, involving between 12,000 and 15,000 men, will refuse to resume next Monday morning, April 2.

J. G. Puterbaugh, general sales manager of the McAlester Fuel Company, was seen at the company's general office here this morning and gave out the following statement:

"While a very large majority of our miners are entirely satisfied with the present scale of wages and would much prefer not to strike, it is altogether probable that they will all be obedient to the commands of the union's officials and refuse to return to their work on next Monday morning, and there will be for the present at least a complete shut-down of practically all in Indian Territory, Arkansas and Texas, as well as at the Northern mines, including Kansas,

Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. There may be a small quantity of coal produced from strip pit and small slopes, but this tonnage will amount to but very little."

Upon the approval of the school board Superintendent Hendrix, two weeks hence, will arrange an elaborate exhibit of public

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS A NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Saturday morning the school board held a meeting in the city hall, and took some important action. They elected as superintendent for next year M. L. Perkins of Mesquite, Texas, and chose as principal Mr. Perkins' present co-worker at Mesquite,
Mr. Berry. Both these gentlemen are reputed to be high-class educators. Mr. Perkins is a graduate of the University of Missouri, has travelled and studied in Europe, has the advantage of fifteen years experience in teaching and has taught seven years almost continuously at Mesquite with signal success.

He visited Ada about two weeks ago and impressed members of the board quite favorably.
Also the board decided to go in a body before the city council and urge the construction of a high school building and the appropriation of a liberal amount for the support of the city schools.

EVERYBODY SHOULD ATTEND RAILROAD RALLY TONIGHT

In accordance with the decision of those attending the railroad
mass meeting Wednesday night,
the citizens of Ada will assemble again tonight at the opera house to push the Canadian Midland proposition. Everybody ought to go and help boost. It is everybody's business, and a business which must not be neglected.
There is no reason in having to hammer away for weeks on a good proposition like the one on hand.
The business men of the town are absolutely a unit in the opinion that this is the chance of a lifetime for Ada. This being true, why should anyone lag back and endanger the success of the splendid enterprise? Help the work go on and go fast; it is easier, anyhow, to do a big job when you go fast. Go out tonight whether you have subscribed to the bonus or not; whether you can pay $500 or $5 or even nothing. Your very presence will assist—there's magic in mere numbers.

Davis in the Lead.

Little Rock, Ark., March 31.—
With practically complete returns from sixty-two out of seventy-five counties Gov. Jefferson Davis has a majority of 2,072 over Senator James H. Berry for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. Senator Berry, at his home in Bentonville, again declined today to express an opinion as to the probable result, saying that he preferred to await further returns. In many of the counties the official count will be made tomorrow.

Returns from the Fourth Congressional District indicate the nomination of W. B. Cravens of

More of the Canadian System.

The Canadian Midland railroad, which is to be built from Kansas City to El Paso, has let the contract for construction between Muskogee and Lawton and the road is to be completed by March 1907. This section of the Great Canadian Southern railway will pass through Muskogee, Hampton, Wewoka, Sasakwa, thence across the Canadian river and on to Lawton. This is a part of the Great Canadian Southern railway projecting from Winnipeg, Canada, to the Gulf of Mexico. The engineers are now locating the line from Muskogee to Hampton and from Hampton to Lawton the line has already been located and passes through Wewoka.—Semi-

CONFEREES ARE FINDING IT EASY TO DISAGREE

Washington, March 31.—All of yesterday's meeting of the conferees on the statehood bill was devoted to a consideration of the Senate amendment relative to locations on mineral land in Oklahoma. This amendment provides that where any of the land granted by the act has previously been located and claimed under the mining laws shall afterward be found to be valuable for minerals,
"such mineral claims may be perfected under the mining laws and the state may select an equal quantity of other land in lieu thereof."

This amendment was set aside,
as have been all the amendments

on which there has been serious disagreement.

The real crux of the controversy, the Foraker and Burrows amendments, has been left for the last. It will be discussed only after all the other amendments have been considered. When this will be, no one knows.

It is believed the House conferees are in no hurry as, if they have to surrender, they desire that it shall be late in the session, when in the confusion of other matters, the Speaker's discomfiture will be overlooked. The conferees will hold three meetings next week, and possibly by the end of that time the outlook will be more clearly defined.

Senator Berry, at his home in Bentonville, again declined today to express an opinion as to the probable result, saying that he preferred to await further returns. In many of the counties the official count will be made tomorrow.

Returns from the Fourth Congressional District indicate the nomination of W. B. Cravens of Fort Smith for Representative in Congress to succeed John S. Little, nominated for Governor.

More of the Canadian System.

The Canadian Midland railroad, which is to be built from Kansas City to El Paso, has let the contract for construction between Muskogee and Lawton and the road is to be completed by March 1907. This section of the Great Canadian Southern railway will pass through Muskogee, Hampton, Wewoka, Sasakwa, thence across the Canadian river and on to Lawton. This is a part of the Great Canadian Southern railway projecting from Winnipeg, Canada, to the Gulf of Mexico. The engineers are now locating the line from Muskogee to Hampton and from Hampton to Lawton the line has already been located and passes through Wewoka.—Seminole Capital (Wewoka.)

CONFEREES ARE FINDING IT EASY TO DISAGREE

Washington, March 31.—All of yesterday's meeting of the conferees on the statehood bill was devoted to a consideration of the Senate amendment relative to locations on mineral land in Oklahoma. This amendment provides that where any of the land granted by the act has previously been located and claimed under the mining laws shall afterward be found to be valuable for minerals, "such mineral claims may be perfected under the mining laws and the state may select an equal quantity of other land in lieu thereof."

This amendment was set aside, as have been all the amendments

on which there has been serious disagreement.

The real crux of the controversy, the Foraker and Burrows amendments, has been left for the last. It will be discussed only after all the other amendments have been considered. When this will be, no one knows.

It is believed the House conferees are in no hurry as, if they have to surrender, they desire that it shall be late in the session, when in the confusion of other matters, the Speaker's discomfiture will be overlooked. The conferees will hold three meetings next week, and possibly by the end of that time the outlook will be more clearly defined.

INDIANS ORGANIZE A PARTY OF THEIR OWN

Okmulgee, I. T., March 31.—This morning an announcement was made in the House of Kings and the House Warriors that there will be a caucus of the Indian members of the council tonight, and every one is expected to attend. This caucus will be a secret one and no one except Indians by blood will be permitted in the caucus.

The caucus is called for the purpose of organizing an independent party to make a political future for the Indian after statehood comes.

This is the beginning of what promises to become one of the most important political moves in this country and if it succeeds will have a bearing on the politics of the new state for years to come. It proposes to organize the Indians into a party which shall be independent of the two great parties and to demand recognition and offices from that party for which it casts its vote. The Indians standing together would unquestionably be the balance of power in the new state and the party that lands their support can get the offices. The price of the Indian vote would be political recognition and a part of the movement is headed by

Ben Marshall, a prominent Creek politician. Identified with it are many prominent Indian politicians, such as Chief Porter, Colonel Robert L. Owen, Roley McIntosh, Wash Grayson, A. P. McKillop and others. In fact it is understood that there has not been an Indian approached who has not concurred in the idea.

In the United States Court.

For the Southern District of the Indian Territory, at Ada.

In re, the appointment of the election of the incorporated town of Ada, Indian Territory.

Order of appointment.
I, J. T. Dickerson, Judge of the United States Court of the Southern District of the Indian Territory, do hereby appoint M. M. Sanders, John W. Beard and Henry Brown, of Ward Number One; A. M. Croxton, W. H. Wheeler and R. W. Bonds, of Ward Number two; M. C. Heimer, R. J. Ross and J. R. Lawrence of Ward Number Three; A. Reidel, Ed Wilson and W. F. Jones, of Ward Number four, as judges for their respective wards of the municipal election to be held in the incorporated town of Ada, Southern District, Indian Territory on the third day of April, A. D., 1906, said parties being represented to me as being qualified electors of the said town and householders therein.

LUNCHES WITHOUT ICE.

Some Delicious and Nutritious Sandwiches and Light Desserts Best—Heavy Foods Objectionable.

Sandwiches may well form the foundation of a well balanced cold lunch and a variety of fillings may be used. Any carefully cooked cold meat may be used, although pork and veal, being the hardest of all meats to digest, are objectionable, especially for children. Every housewife should strive to excel in making fine quality bread, biscuits, muffins, etc. Bread for sandwiches should be thinly sliced.

Small loaves of biscuit dough or of yeast bread may be baked in corn cans, the small round slices being especially desirable for sandwiches. Brown bread sandwiches with filling of finely mashed, well seasoned baked beans are very nice, and should find a place in the lunch basket at least once a week. Meat for filling should be run through a chopper, or chopped very finely by hand, moistened with stock or sweet cream, and carefully seasoned with salt, and a very little pepper is desired. Eggs placed in boiling water and kept hot, not boiling, for 20 minutes, then mashed with a fork, seasoned, and butter added to make a smooth paste are a delicious filling, also celery, chopped or sliced, and sprinkled with salt.

Nuts, especially peanuts, run through the chopper and simply moistened with butter form another kind sure to delight the children. This may be prepared and kept on hand in glass jars in cold weather. Sealed (not seedless) raisins washed thoroughly and run through the ever useful chopper, then placed on oil paper in a pan with perforated bottom and placed over a kettle of boiling water, with the pan tightly covered, and allowed to steam ten minutes, then put in glass jars will keep indefinitely and are always ready to spread between bread, biscuits or crackers with a piece of cheese, and most effectively takes the place of pie. Dates and figs are also nice used in the same way.

Dainty cup puddings of rice, tapioca, custard and squash or pumpkin prepared the same as for pies may be often baked with a large one for the table, making little extra work, and will be appreciated. The simplest water or cream sponge cake may be given occasionally and lead as an especial treat. Raw or nicely baked apples and a bottle of milk or cocoa are nice additions to the lunch basket.

The lunch should be put up daintily, each kind of food wrapped separately in oiled or buttered paper and a paper napkin provided. The child who is given simple, easily digested food will do his school work with far greater ease than one given a rich complicated diet that draws the blood from the brain to assist the overtaxed digestive organs in their laborious work. Wrong living is responsible for many a dull pupil, and thinking mothers everywhere are awakening to the fact.—Orange Judd Farmer.

DOCTORS WHO DIE EARLY.

The Principal Cause Is Said to Be Excessive Nervous Expenditure in Practice.

From the nature of his habits the physician is not subject to accidents, and, though he is brought into contact with infection to a greater extent than other men, his preventive means are successful and his mortality from infection is very low. Freedom from prolonged muscular strains and high blood tension apparently saves him from arteriosclerosis, but suicide claims many, and so do the drug habits acquired by the nervously exhausted. It has been said that three-fourths of French morphine users are physicians.

The cause of the physician's early death is evidently the excessive nervous expenditure, insufficient rest and defective nutrition, inseparable from his calling, with its broken and restricted sleep, irregular hours of work, rest and meals, the worry when lives depend upon his judgment and the lack of a day of complete relaxation in each week. The physician who sees his patients every day in the week, month after month, and cannot learn to forget them when he goes home, more or less burns the candle at both ends. He violates the law obeyed by every other animal, that there shall be short periods of moderate exertion interrupted by longer periods of rest when repairs are made. It is not too much work as a rule, but scattered work, which prevents rest.

Lemon Cookies.

Four cupsful of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of butter, two cupsful of sugar, juice of one lemon and the grated peel from the outside, three eggs whipped very light; beat thoroughly each ingredient, adding at the last a half-teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a teaspoonful of milk. Roll out as any cookies and bake a light brown.

Ginger Snaps.

One cupful molasses, one-half cupful sugar, one tablespoonful ginger, one teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful softened butter; flour to roll out thin. Heat the molasses and pour over the sugar; then add the other ingredients. Cut out in pretty forms and bake quickly.—N. Y. World.

"They say there's graftin' goin' on even in some of the penitentiaries," observed Uncle Jerry Peebles. "Well, that's the right place for grafters."—Chicago Tribune.

Dance at the New Harris.

The ball at the Harris last evening was one that will long be remembered and never forgotten by those who assembled in the limelight of the spacious parlors of that beautiful inn.

It was past nine-thirty when the invited guests had assembled and the monotony of the parting day had been forgotten in the rapturous glide and rhythmic step of the light hearted merry-makers. It was an occasion upon which there was a concord of friendly glee, and there was that satisfaction, glee and contentment of children at play. The hospitable proprietor of the Harris and his estimable wife had levied a tax upon the maiden beauty of no less than five of the commonwealths of the great Southwest. One of our neighboring cities contributed a princess, as a hostage, in token of her subjection to the prowess of beautiful Ada's social superiority. The wit and splendor of lovely women and the big hearted chivalry of stalwart manhood combined to make such a happy and as welcome as the flowers in May.

The assurances by the departing throng of a pleasant evening which the host and hostess received would have convinced a doubting Thomas that life is worth living. A guest.

Muskogee, I. T., March 31—With the passage of the Curtis bill will come a struggle between the towns of Indian territory and the railroads over the matter of taxation.

Under the present laws there is no way to assess and collect from railroads. There are twelve roads operating in the territory, and out of that number there is just one that is paying taxes, and that one is the Frisco. This is a voluntary payment and is made on the road as a matter of policy, said.

The Curtis bill provides that the city council of a town may assess and collect taxes from railroads within its incorporated limits in the same manner that other property is assessed and taxed. It gives the city council

the power to pass property immediately.

The law provides that the railroads may take the matter of assessment into the district court for adjustment in case they think they are assessed too high, but they must do so immediately after notice of assessment is given and not use the court as a means of delaying payment of taxes.

The question of taxation and valuation is one that is of great interest in Indian Territory just now, and one of the big items, of course, is the taxation of railroads. Under the Curtis act the towns will endeavor to levy and collect taxes immediately. Under statehood it will be impossible to collect taxes under a state law less than twenty months from now. This is going to bring the question of a system of valuation to the fore.

WHY KIDNEY DISEASE IS DANGEROUS.

Neglect of the First Warning Symptoms is the Prime Cause of so Many Deaths from the Dreaded Bright's Disease.

It is Easily Curable in the Early Stages.

Kidney diseases are so destructive to human life because they do not manifest alarming symptoms until the constitution is seriously weakened and the strength exhausted. Then, too often, the remedies employed by many physicians are of indifferent or doubtful value, and the patient rapidly sinks under the disease. The wisest course is to apply a reliable kidney and liver remedy on the first appearance of the symptoms. A little uneasiness in the small of the back, digestive troubles, bowel irregularities and disorder in the urinary organs are matters of small moment in the estimation of strong men and women, yet they have a serious meaning. They show clearly that the kidneys are suffering and need help, which must be forthwith coming at once to prevent serious, perhaps fatal consequences. A few doses of Prickly Ash Bitters at this time would prove of incalculable value in restoring the weakened organs to health. An investment of one dollar in a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters when the disease is yet in the early stage will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills, besides the suffering that would surely follow should the disease be allowed to fasten itself in the body. The excellent curative power of Prickly Ash Bitters is not confined to the first stages of kidney disease. It is equally efficacious in severe or chronic cases. Physicians have used it as a last resort, in cases that defied their best efforts, with the most brilliant results, and it has shown its superiority over the many so-called kidney cures, now being loudly advertised, in instances innumerable.

Accept no substitute. Insist on having the genuine Prickly Ash Bitters with the large figure 8 in red on the front label.

Sold at Drug Stores, $1.00 per bottle.

PLIGHT OF THE SPINNER.

Occasions When a Business Man Is Forced to Speculate Against His Will.

"Were one to follow the footsteps of the average cotton buyer for the mill," writes the Textile Manufacturers' Journal, "he would find that immediately after the buyer had placed an order for a quantity of the staple he would find himself to the exchange, or some other broker, for the purpose of covering the probabilities of the future market. In other words, the cotton buyer for the mill must protect his purchases by dealing in cotton futures. At the recent convention of cotton manufacturers, at Manchester, England, this question was thoroughly exploited, just as it was a year ago at the convention held at Zurich.

"If this is legitimate business, then our ideas of what constitutes business are altogether wrong. The idea that a manufacturer who anticipates an order or who provides the raw cotton material for an order already in hand must go into the future market in order to guard against any possibility or probability of a fluctuation in the price of raw material is too ridiculously absurd for a sane man to place in the category of legitimate business transactions. And yet the yarn spinner is compelled to protect himself in this way against the future. He would not deem it safe to take any contract of any considerable size without gambling on the future."

SKI CONTESTS IN MICHIGAN

Tournaments at Ishpeming Prove Attractive to Scandinavians from All Points.

Ski contests are becoming more popular every winter at Ishpeming, Mich., reports the Milwaukee Sentinel. Visitors from all over the northwest, especially from Scandinavian settlements, attend the tournaments at Ishpeming. Ishpeming is the center for ski contests in the United States.

A ski slide is a strange sight to most Americans, but ski is one of the great sports of northern Europe, and it needs no explanation among Swedes and Norwegians. A slide is a steep and slippery incline, with a slight upward slant at the bottom, where the runners leave the track. The person who slides down must make a jump off from a place 20 feet high at the bottom of the slide.

The point of a contest is to see how far one can jump off his chute. Men who are expert have been known to gain such speed in going down the incline as to jump 90 feet. Only those who keep their feet after making the jump from the raised platform can be counted in a contest. Recently an expert jumped 110 feet, but he could not stand on his feet and so his record could not be entered officially.

All Used Up.

"I would like," he said, "to do something to cement our friendship."
"I'm afraid," she replied, "that you never can. You're so stuck on yourself that I don't see where any more cement is to come from."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Difference of Opinion.

The best man at the wedding is sometimes hard to pick out—of course, the bride may consider him the bridegroom, but the maid of honor would speak for the handsome usher, and the bride's mother for the rich uncle who gave the handsomest gift, and the bride's little brother for the caterer, so there you are.—Home and Abroad.

Realism.

Why is the cow purple in the picture?
Because the girl's parasol is red.
The cow, in fact, is purple with rage.
This is precisely what is meant by realism in art.—Puck.

It is just as easy to get clothes that will fit you as clothes that don't, that is if you go to a place where they carry clothes that fit. The garments we carry we have especially tailored for us, by the Globe Tailoring Co. They fit. If you go in one of our suits to a party or to church no one will say of you: "Why she must have borrowed those clothes from a neighbor." We look out, too, for the kind of cloth we put into our garments. They wear well and fit well. What more could you wish for? A fair price. This we have an eye on, also. For $11.50 a fine appearing $20 suit. For $16.50 a $22 suit, very pleasing. If you wish to have your own spring suit for Easter made, then we are sure you'll like to look at our dress goods. MORE THAN HALF MILLION MINERS ON THE STIKE

Indianapolis, Ind., April 2.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, left here last night for New York. He expects quick results in the anthracite conferences this time. He will be back in Indianapolis shortly, for the international negotiations with the anthracite operators must be carried through and there must be an anthracite convention. Mr. Mitchell last evening held a conference with President John Nugent of the West Virginia miners. Mr. Mitchell was also in conference by phone with district presidents all over the country.

"What are the conditions tonight?" was asked Mitchell. "Simply this," he replied. "Our contracts have expired in the bituminous fields, the anthracite strike award has expired and our men have no arrangement on which to work. They have quit. More than half a million are out."

No breaks in the lines are reported. F. L. Robbins and Western Pennsylvania independents will readopt the 1903 scale Monday by signing a contract. Western Kentucky operators have signed Iowa operators have accepted the terms. Many independent operators in Indiana and Illinois have notified our district officers that they are ready to sign. The advance has been posted in the Irwin field in Western Pennsylvania, and by the big Berwind-White Company in Central Pennsylvania; 50 per cent of the tonnage is ready to sign up. Strike conditions will prevail over practically all of Ohio, Central Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kansas, Indian Territory, Texas and in the anthracite fields. The mines in West Virginia will be operated a few days pending the result of the district joint conference in Charleston.

APOSTLE DOWIE HAS BEEN REPUDIATED AND DEPOSED

Chicago, Ill., April 2.—At a meeting yesterday of 5,000 adherents of the Christian Catholic church at Zion City, of which John Alexander Dowie is the founder and first apostle, Dowie's authority was repudiated and Wilber Glenn Voliva, who for some time has been conducting the affairs of the church, elected in his stead.

Mrs. Dowie also repudiated her husband and their son, Gladstone Dowie, cast his lot with his mother and the new leader.

Voliva.

Most of the officials of the church were present at the meeting and many of them denounced Dowie as having deceived the people and wasted their money in extravagance. The meeting, however, refused to hold that he had knowingly erred and John G. Spedder, the former overseer and once second in command, who was recently deposed, declared Dowie to be insane. Mrs. Dowie, in her address, also up-

SOME RUMBLINGS OF THE NEW RAILROADS

In behalf of the local committee for the Oklahoma Central, Col. J. W. Hays Monday morning had a conference with some of the property owners out on West Main concerning cost of right of way for the spur into Ada. The public understands the latest plan is for the spur to branch from the main line some two miles west and come into town on Main street. The colonel found some of the property owners quite reasonable, while others are rather exorbitant in their demands. The committee desires to have matters in definite shape against the coming of President Carter, who is expected Tuesday.

The Canadian Midland committee continues to hammer away with some success. They are a determined set of fellows, well organized in squads; they refuse to take "no" for an answer, and the best thing to do when they come around is to surrender gracefully at once and at honorable terms. These gentlemen will have the gratitude of Ada's future generations for their labors. Every citizen should see that his subscription to the bonus is such as to entitle him also to a share of posterity's gratitude.

W. L. Bryd Camp Meeting

The local camp of Confederate Veterans assembled in regular monthly meeting Sunday afternoon. Commander W. H. Fisher presided and all other officers were on hand in their several official capacities.

Two very welcome new members were elected into the camp, namely, W. H. H. Jones and S. Tatum.

The Veterans spent a good portion of the evening in fraternizing with one another, perpetuating that grand old comradeship appreciable fully only to those who have a community of reminiscences of the Lost Cause with all its tragedy, pathos and sublimity.

After deciding to hold a called meeting on April 22nd, preliminary to the trip to New Orleans, the meeting was closed with prayer by Chaplain Morgan.

U. S. Commissioner's Court.

This being the first Monday, Judge Winn duly convened the U. S. Commissioner's court this morning. The first case put on trial was that of J. S. Buck vs. Jim Robinson, a replevin suit over the ownership of some hogs. At the hour of three the trial was still in progress.

TEACHERS' ATTITUDE IN SUPERINTENDENT'S CONTEST

[The following communication was sent to the News by some of the young lady teachers with the request that same be published.—Editor]

We, the teachers of Ada public schools, desire to submit to the public our position concerning the election of superintendent and our reasons for declaring ourselves in such emphatic terms in favor of the retention of the present incumbent.

We declare emphatically that the present organization of the schools is such that the citizens of Ada or any other city should be proud of. Superintendent, teachers and pupils working together as one for the best interests of the schools; that within one year's time every vestige of disorganization has given way to good feeling, acute interest, implicit obedience and absolute loyalty. How such an organization could be effected in so short a time is nothing less than marvelous to us.

While we have done our best in all consciousness to contribute to the splendid condition that now exists, we disclaim any merit of our own, knowing that the superintendent has been the heart and soul of every movement that has lent inspiration and emphasis to the progress of the schools during the year. He has sympathized with us, encouraged us, assumed our burdens, and in many instances helped us over seemingly insurmountable difficulties.

By his executive force and strong personality he has brought the pupil body up to the highest appreciation for us and for the schools, and he has quickened an interest that is phenomenal. The loyalty and interest of the pupils cannot be doubted. Voluntarily they assembled themselves together, some 400 or more, sent for the school board and pleaded for the retention of Mr. Hendrix. Such appreciation is unprecedented. They begged that the present pleasing conditions be continued. Later, when it became current that the school board was determined to act with undue haste and elect a superintendent one month ahead of time, we gave expression to our opinion in the matter by submitting to the board the statement that we would not apply for reelection if Mr. Hendrix should not be retained. We made the statement because we know full well that the pupils of the school feel that the board has ignored them and trampled upon their rights, thereby sowing the seed of discord, which will grow and ripen into organization. Nor have our feelings in the matter escaped violence, and at present we can discern nothing promising in the future for the schools.

In conclusion we regret profoundly to be required to make the above statements and admissions and we most humbly submit to the will of those who have it in their power to make or unmake the schools.

We take this position, not because we want to dictate, but because the ethics of the profession demand it of us. We cannot withhold this statement from the public knowing as we do that an injustice has been done to the pupils, to the schools, to Mr. Hendrix and to the city of Ada; and we are sure that this same professional ethics would prevent the gentleman who was elected from accepting if he knew the conditions as they really exist.

TUESDAY'S ELECTION.

While it is true all our city officers were, in effect, chosen at the Democratic primary a fortnight ago, still it is important that every qualified voter cast a ballot in the regular election Tuesday. It is your duty as an American citizen—though it be but a quasi citizenship under a provincial sort of government. Though it be but a perfunctory performance in the present case, you need to get the habit of doing your civic duty.

Besides, the reputation of Ada demands that every man vote. The returns of the election will be published abroad over the land. Observant people will take the total vote as indicative of the total population of this city. If but a small vote is polled it will be inferred abroad that this is a small town. This is the time we need to be advertised abroad in the best and strongest light possible. A big vote will help do it.

Scarcely will it take more than ten minutes of any man's time to go to the polls and do his whole duty. Go do it just as if we had a big, close political contest on hand.

Go all the way; don't be a piker.

BIGGER ADA BEGUN.

Already one new wholesale house has read the roseate future for Ada and has taken up its abode in our midst. The glad tidings of Ada's coming railroad facilities are being carried abroad; other wholesalers and jobbers are right now contemplating making this a distributing point for their wares. They are speedily recognizing that this will be the railroad center of the Southwest.

Eleven spokes to our big wheel, eleven excellent railroad outlets—that is the sound, uninfated prospect for Ada. That's something for manufacturers and wholesalers and investors generally to ponder—and to act upon. And they will act; they will move; there'll be a scramble this way.

Town building is a big game; there's no limit. But Ada has set in; she's not afraid; she'll play 'em to the blue vault above; and she'll eat the game up.

Order of appointment.
I, J. T. Dickerson, Judge of the United States Court of the Southern District of the Indian Territory, do hereby appoint M. M. Sanders, John W. Beard and Henry Brown, of Ward Number One; A. M. Croxton, W. H. Wheeler and R. W. Bonds, of Ward Number two; M. C. Heimer, R. J. Ross and J. R. Lawrence of Ward Number Three; A. Reidel, Ed. Nelson and W. F. Jones, of Ward Number four, as judges for their respective wards of the municipal election to be held in the incorporated town of Ada, Southern District, Indian Territory on the third day of April, A. D., 1906, said parties being represented to me as being qualified electors of the said town and householders therein.

Boy Stolen.

The newspapers of the United States are requested to publish a description of Richmond Byers, the six year old son of Dr. S. L. Byers, a newspaper man of Seelyville, Ind., who was stolen from his home, presumably by a band of roving horse traders, nearly two years ago. It is said that Dr. Byers has expended all his means in a fruitless search for the little boy, and now he makes an appeal to his brethren of the newspaper profession. The missing boy is of light complexion, has gray eyes, left eye noticeably crossed, a small V shaped nick in the left ear, sharp chin and narrow, projecting forehead. He is rather small for his age and is unusually bright and intelligent, talking in the manner of a boy much older. It is his father's theory that the kidnappers took him for the purpose of forcing him to beg for them.

New Fire Apparatus Arrives.

Last Saturday afternoon the new fire apparatus arrived from Kansas City. It consists of an elegant modern hosewagon costing $500 and accessory appliances such as harness, etc., to the value of $255. The additional 1200 feet of hose will be here in a few days.

Some of the fire boys hitched up the wagon and paraded the streets to the intense admiration of citizens. The apparatus is up-to-date in every respect and adequate for our needs.

Now for a good fire hall to keep it in.

Prisoner "Threw a Fit."

Will Buchanan, the Sulphur jointist accused of touching a patron of his place for $200, was held by the U. S. Commissioner to await the action of the grand jury. He failed to make the required $1,500 bond for appearance and was transported Sunday night to the Ardmore jail by Deputy U. S. Marshal Chapman. Enroute to the station the prisoner was seized with a violent fit and fell against a box car sustaining some injuries on the head.

New Wholesale House.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Upp of Holdenville spent several hours in the city today. Mr. Upp was formerly in the wholesale grocery business in Ada and later moved the same to Holdenville. He has recently disposed of his interests there and has about concluded to return to Ada and start up another wholesale house here. Our people will gladly welcome doubt him and his business. No doubt he realizes what an advantageous distributing point this will be with all its new railroads.

Brents Will Remain.

Friends of Office Deputy U. S. Marshal Ed Brents, who sent in his resignation last week, will be gratified to learn that he received Sunday from Marshal Porter a telegram urging him to reconsider and retain the deputyship. This, it is reported, Brents has consented to do. He having gone to Ardmore last night, the reporter was unable to get the information at first hand.

THE GRUBSTAKE MINE

PRISONER gives his name as Jones," said the officer, chuckling. "He's ironed hand and foot, for fear of accidents; but mind, if he goes for you, yell, and I'll let you out."

So the policeman threw open the grated door.

"Prisoner, here's yer lawyer; and I warn you if you smash him up you won't get another."

The door swung to behind me, but so dark was the cell that at first I could see nothing of "Mr. Jones."

"Good afternoon—ahem!" said I, feebly. One never knows what may happen in the Bitter Root City Jail.

"I ain't going to hurt you," growled the prisoner. "Sit down; make yourself at home."

The voice was manly, resonant; the man was a young athlete; I could just see that his boots were the duty, high-heeled Wellingtons of a cowboy; while the rest of his dress—a sombrero, shirt, overalls, a broad web belt, and silk handkerchief round the neck—bore out the character. The man's presence already brought up some faint memory; indeed I felt that I knew him, but not under the surname of Jones. Surely this sunburnt young frontiersman was some old friend.

"I can't offer you any refreshments, Mr. Lawyer," said the boy, drowsily. "The accommodations, in fact, are slim—very slim. Why," he woke up, "what the deuce are you staring at?"

"Jack Brancepeth," I ventured, "don't you know me?"

"What? Williams, major? Hurrabi! Shake, you duffer!"

It was not easy to shake hands, for my old schoolfellow was shackled spread-eagle fashion to the bed.

"Yes," he laughed, "they've got me roped for branding, and then they'll clip my ears and coral me all to myself, lest I corrupt the good manners of the other viclins."

"Well," said I, frankly, "it jolly well serves you right. A fool who amuses himself shooting the stockbrokers on 'Change ought to be—"

"Smacked," said Jack. "I knocked out three deputy marshals, damaged one sheriff, bored a few holes through things generally. I wish I could chew up some more police by way of dessert. I feel as happy as a chip."

"Look here, we're civilized people in Bitter Root City; we're not used to cow-punchers."

"Well, you don't amount to shucks, as you say. Look here, I want you to let down the bars of this corral—I've been lonesome."

"How can I let you out? Don't you see these stockbrokers are not used to being shot at?"

"Yes," he groaned, "that's what's the matter. I've offended their little local prejudices. But that's all right!"

"All right for State Prison," I explained. He only chuckled.

"Well, I did ruffle 'em up some. But, as I say, that's all right. I'll tell you the straight yarn—then you can turn it into the right kind of lies, and have them sworn to. See?"

"Go on," said I.

"Well, to begin with, I got me a tract of meadow land up Wild Creek, back of Branchville, Idaho—do you know the place? No? Well, I stocked the ranch out of what I'd saved, with a shorthorn, bull by Climax, together with thirty-nine head of scrub cattle, and a band of ponies. Since then, whenever I've happened upon mavericks—unbranded cattle, you know—I've adopted the poor orphans, clapped on my little Q—that's my brand—and turned 'em into the pasture. There's been some satisfaction in annexing old Silas Hewson's calves, but even then it ain't over and above square dealing, besides which it's slow work building up wealth out of strays. So I suppose a hundred head all told would make up the sum of what I had lost fall, though since then I've been laying by my thirty dollars a month cow-punching for the 'Square Triangle' outfit down Boise way, which money I've put into improvements on my Wild Creek ranch."

"You seem to have been on the make?"

"Yes," Jack heaved a great sigh. "But it came deuced tough. Why, I've sworn off poker, quit getting drunk, even tried to worry along without cussing."

"But why all this virtue?"

"Why, don't you see, you loon—you pilgrim? I'm in love!"

"Oh?"

"It was all for Kitty's sake."

"Who's Kitty?"

"She's my girl. Say, do you know old man Hewson—down to Idaho Flats?"

"What, the capitalist who floated the Grubstake mine?"

"The same. A right smart hole in the ground is the Grubstake. Why, I guess the old man must be worth his cool five millions now. Any way, he's got six head of young filies, that there ain't the like of west of the Bitter Root Mountains, calkers, and away up at that."

"Blooded?"

"I should smile. Out of the very best Virginian. There's Kitty, Sapp, Matred, Nehusta, Zebudah and Mohitable, all raised on the ranch, all terfied the same school at Wild Creek."

"School?" I howled; "do you mean the man's daughters?"

"Well, rather! You see a man needs lots of wealth to pretend to any of these girls, for Silas is like them Old Testament chiefs who'd see lords and dukes sniffing around the lodge, and let the dogs at 'em because they ain't kings. She's too good, any way, for a common scrub cowboy like me. Oh, man, but you should see her sit a bucking horse! She's like the west wind riding a cloud, with the bright hair flying around her head and her eyes like stars. The broncho tears up the ground, but she laughs as she drives home the spur, and there's no fear in her. I've fought two men for fooling around her, already—one with rifles on horseback; he's in the hospital; the other, shooting at sight with guns, but I hunted him out of the country."

Jack Brancepeth always was band-some, but now as he laughed in triumph, I felt that Miss Kitty had no need to rue her choice, for this gallant, simple, boyish lover had the face of a Galathea.

"Yes, that's why I've been trying to keep straight. Why, I'd be a manny hermit if I could make myself good enough for her. But, as she said, the old man would never let me have her unless I'd lots of wealth. I tried hard enough, but then we'd been engaged more or less for two whole years without n'y making my pile."

"But," said I, "this doesn't seem to have much bearing on the present trouble?"

"It hasn't, eh? Well, you reach your hand into the left pocket of my belt, and you'll find her letters. There, that's right; now read the one on top."

So I found myself glancing over the first of a batch of letters in a fine round school girl hand like a stringful of knots. The letter read:

"Dear Jack—If you want me don't be a fool. Here's Pa favoring Daddy Longlegs, who wants me awful bad. He's given Daddy Longlegs a straight tip how to make his fortune. Pa told him that they've just found a vemonous lot of ore in the Grubstake mine, but the principal owners are lying low, and saying bad things about the mine until they can rope in all the stock, whatever that means. Any way, they've broken down the pumps on purpose to let the works get flooded, so as to hide what they've found. Daddy Longlegs has sense enough to speculate in Grubstakes; you haven't."

"KITTY."

"Yes," continued Jack. "Kitty's pretty straight goods, and when she says a thing she means it. If Daddy Longlegs had a thousand dollars, I was worth two thousand; at least that's what I realized in hard cash by selling my ranch to a tenderfoot. So I rode down here to Bitter Root City, went to Kitty's uncle, Hi Hewson, the stockbroker, plunked down my roll of bills, and said: 'Buy Grubstakes.'"

"You hadn't ought to buy outright," says Hewson; 'you should margin.'"

"What's that?" said I.

"It means," said he, "that you plunk down your money; I run the show; if the stock goes up, I sell out when you think you're pretty well fixed for life; if the stock goes down two thousand dollars' worth, you lose all you have got."

"I'll gamble," said I, "with all I can hold down by sitting straddle."

"Well, you should have seen the brokers geying Hi Hewson in the Mining Exchange, and afterward I heard them talking among themselves in the Coffee Palace."

"What," says one smart Aleck, 'you think Hi Hewson's working for Silas, eh? You must think Silas P. Hewson's gone loco! The old man confessed only last week to a friend of mine that the mine's played out. Why, the works are chock a block with water, and no tunneling facilities to drain it; the pumps have broken down and of real pay ore there isn't a dollar in sight.'"

"A level head has old man Silas," says another; 'as to Hi Hewson, he's roped in a sucker who thinks he can gamble—some fool of a cowboy, he says.'"

"There was another sucker last week," says smart Aleck; 'Daddy Longlegs they call him—plunked down a thousand dollars on a falling market, he, he! Well, he's busted now; margin all run out.'"

"At that they all drank a toast, 'Long live the suckers!' but—well—I laughed. 'Now read the second letter,' said Jack."

"You're a daisy," I read. "Daddy Longlegs has come back dead broke; and his language is just disgraceful. Hold on, keep right hold, Jack, for pa says he'll soon be letting the cat out of the bag, so if the stock goes down any more you must keep a good heart and hold on. KITTY."

"That's all right," said Jack, "but by the time I got the letter on Monday morning my margin was running out, too. Says Hi, 'It's all your own fault; you never took the trouble to ask my advice, or you wouldn't have bought until to-day; but that was poor consideration, for I was like to be as big a fool as Daddy Longlegs. When the Exchange closed on Monday the Grubstake was quoted at forty-three, and if it went a point lower my two thousand dollars would be lost. Read the third letter.'"

"Hold on to the stock," I read. "You needn't have been jealous of Daddy. He ain't in it, never was, for I love you, old boy. On Wednesday morning the news will be in all the papers that the Grubstake was flooded on purpose to keep the secret of a great bonanza; your stock will be worth a fortune. Hold on for my sake, darling. Hold on for all you're worth. KITTY."

"At that I plunked up courage," said Jack, cheerfully, "sold my horse, saddle, rifle, coat, 'shaps, lariat, spurs, watch, everything; and plunked down the cash with Hi Hewson. I could hold on now, he told me, till the stock dropped to forty and a half; but if it went below that I was lost. "On Tuesday I went to the Mining Exchange Building with my heart in my mouth. The stock opened at forty-three, then a little was sold at forty-two, and at noon it stood at forty-one and a half. Scared almost crazy, I grabbed hold of a reporter, stood the drinks, and loaded him up with news. I told him to say in his paper that the Hewson outfit was bearing down the market, that Silas had flooded the mine to hide his bonanza until the moment came to shout. But the reporter made out that the next edition came out at four o'clock, and the Exchange closed at half-past three."

"Get out the posters early," I told him, "bribe the printers, work the ropes somehow, and if I win my game, I won't forget you."

"The reporter winked, and started to write out his news; but when the market opened again in the afternoon, there seemed to be no hope left, for the stock was at forty-one and a quarter, with only three-quarters of a point between me and perdition."

"From where I stood in the public gallery, I saw the brokers whispering, for a rumor had got wind from the printers that made them crazy. Some of them were offering forty-three, forty-four, even up to fifty for Grubstake stock; but there wasn't a dollar for sale. 'Twas old Hewson's broker that started the counter rumor making out that the newspaper yarn was some fool's canard—or else a tale gotten up so the holders could sell out in a hurry. I was paralyzed when the bidding stopped short; I didn't know one more move that could save the game; I was ready to kill myself."

"Hi Hewson sent up a clerk to say he hated to see me ruined—I'd better sell. It was decent of him, but I told the clerk to go to blazes and further, before I'd throw up my hand like a white-livered coward."

"At three o'clock came a telegram from Kitty that said: 'Be brave. Pa has bought all the stock he wants, and wired his broker to quit bearing.'"

"Oh, man, but she was worth fighting for. She's an angel out of heaven, and I'd rather have died than broken faith with her."

"The clock was going so slow that it seemed to have stopped. Five past three, ten past, quarter-past three; the stock at forty-one! Twenty past three, twenty-three past! I was saying my prayers with my revolver ready in my hand for death if I lost in the game. There was a commotion down in the hall—a rumor was spreading through the crowd, till it rippled up into the gallery, and I heard the news—the Grubstake syndicate bankrupt!"

"I knew it could only be a lie gotten up by old Hewson's broker. I knew that in another moment the newspaper posters would be fastened up at the door. I knew that if the market held still another three minutes I'd saved my game."

"The fool at the blackboard was marking the closing prices on 'Tigers, Poorman, Coeur d'Alene, Eagle of Murderer's Bar, Grubstake. He'd wiped out the old figures, to write down Grubstake at the price of a bankrupt mine; the brokers were yelling like demons; the place shook with the uproar; the clock ticked at twenty-nine past; the fool was writing the figures that meant ruin—despair—death!"

"Raising my gun, I fired right at his fingers, missed, fired again, but the fool was gone. I fired again and again, then once again, and flung my revolver at the blackboard across an empty hall. Yes, I'd stampeded the brokers, I'd stampeded the whole confounded outfit—the ruck of them was screeching with panic against the doors—and I stood alone in the gallery. The game was won!"

"What matter if I did get excited? What matter if I did knock a few deputy marshals out of the gallery? What matter if I did damage a city official—or a dozen—or scores?"

"The news is out; I've won me a wife and a fortune; I'm boss of the range; and Kitty shall live like a queen because I love her—because I've loved her like a man—and she's mine!"—Waverley Magazine.

One on Thackeray.

From Dublin comes a letter from a correspondent commenting on our notes of a few days ago on Thackeray's visit to Ireland. "There is," says he, "a story which, if true, as I believe it to be, is a solace to the minds of Irishmen who have found it hard to forget or forgive the 'Battle of Limerick.' When on his first visit to Ireland, Thackeray took a drive on a Dublin car some distance into the country. Milestones had recently been erected along the roads, with the letters 'G. P. O.' distances being measured from the general post office. Thackeray was unaware of this and in his thirst for knowledge asked the carman what the letters meant. The prompt reply was, 'God preserve O'Connell.' Thackeray believed what he was told, but the incident only appeared in the first edition of his book."—London News.

Is the Englishman Deteriorating?

A recent investigator has compiled some statistics which would seem to indicate a rather alarming physical deterioration in the British people. The figures, based upon the recruiting and medical reports of the army, show, for example, that while in 1880 the proportion of men in the army under five feet five inches in height was 106 in a thousand, the following year it had risen to 115 in a thousand; in 1891 to 117; in 1896 to 132. The proportion of men measuring less than thirty-three inches around the chest was, in 1880, seventeen in 1000; in 1898 it was twenty-three. In 1871, 150.4 per 1000 recruits were under 120 pounds in weight; in 1890 the proportion had increased to 301. 1000.—Harper's Weekly.

The breeding of cattle in Mexico is steadily increasing. Large numbers of different breeds have recently been imported from the United States, Holland and Switzerland.

Men of science have never been able to explain why a thunderstorm spolls talk, beer, meat, and other articles of consumption. The latest German theory is that there is some injurious electric influence, which also causes headache or depression in many sensitive persons just before a storm.

Insurance experts are discussing statistics as to the increase of longevity, and they generally agree that the surest guarantee for a peaceful and happy old age and for becoming octogenarians and nonagenarians, and even going beyond the century mark, is the taking out of a plentiful supply of life insurance policies.

Transcontinental automobile trips are becoming numerous, but the public is beginning to discount the value of a test of this kind with a specially-prepared vehicle, operated by paid machinists and fitted at various points along the route with new tires, parts, etc., as these become necessary. Such tests must be made under normal touring conditions to have any great influence upon prospective buyers.

The Grand Palais in Paris possesses a wonderful clock, which was shown in the Paris Exhibition of 1889. It was the work of Collin and has just been overhauled. It is claimed for this chef d'oeuvre, says the Debats, that it does not vary more than the hundredth part of a second in a year. It is four and a half metres in height, and indicates the time in the twelve chief cities of the world, each city having its own dial. The clock not only marks the year, month and day of the week, but its pendulum forms a barometer of singular precision.

At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Medicine Dr. Garnier cited cases in which hysterical women had brought the most monstrous accusations against their relatives, their neighbors, and their very fathers and mothers, the whole being entirely a figment of their sick brains, but related with such perfect self-possession that even courts of justice had been wrongly led to infer that they were true. The judge in a trial where hysterical women appear should, he said, have them examined by a medical commission as a means of protection.

The study of words serves a double purpose. A wide vocabulary not only enables us to express our ideas exactly and concisely, but new words actually bring us new ideas. Someone spoke to me the other day of exercising a "corrigible influence" over another.

The word was new to me; I looked it up and found a whole train of new thought started up by the new word, says Adeline Kuapp, in The Household. It was a great pleasure. An enlarged vocabulary actually means an enlarged mind; every new word that comes to our knowledge brings with it a new chain of ideas by suggestion.

The sanitary measures introduced in Cuba during the American military occupation have been continued, and the island as a whole is now more healthful than at any time in its history. Minister Squiers in a recent report says: "In the District of Havana the death rate decreased in June to 400, against 448 in the preceding thirty days and against 540 in June of last year, and is the lowest figure for June ever recorded in Havana, as far back as reliable statistics can be obtained. The whole island is free from small-pox and yellow fever. In many of the provinces the death rate has been abnormally low for the time of year, owing to the improved methods of sanitation."

One of the strongest influences for peace among the nations is the growing habit of borrowing and lending money, or "international investment." Everybody recollects how France abused the United States when this country had to take Spain to task for the misgovernment of her colonies. The root of it all was a huge amount of French money in Spain. France has now invested in foreign countries, chiefly Russia, England, Spain and Italy the sum of six billion dollars. England, on the other hand, has ten billion dollars invested abroad, and a good sum of it is in France, but perhaps the greatest part of it is in the United States. But the American millionaire is also abroad, and he is buying everything he can lay his hands on in Europe, and much of it he can't bring home in his trunk, such as underground railways, mineral springs, hotels, castles, ivy-clad ruins, shoe stores, electric factories, foreign brogues and anti-American prejudices.

EDUCATION IN JAPAN.
The Teacher is a Patriarchal Gentleman Seated on a Cushion.
If you can imagine a long room in a long house with thatched roof, dark plastered walls, broad doorways closed with paper covered latticed frames which slide in grooves, bare floors covered with perfect fitting straw mats, some tiny tables, one by two feet in size and eight inches high—if you can imagine this, then you can conceive of an ancient schoolroom in Japan.

Again, if you can imagine a patriarchal old gentleman, with sparse beard, a head half bald, a small twig of hair turned back on the top of his head, then seated on a little cushion behind one of the tiny tables on which is a flat stone inkstand, a manuscript school book and a long bamboo pencil at one end of which is a fine pointed brush for writing; then think of some tiny children—a half dozen probably—the boys' heads shaved, except for a circular bunch of hair exactly at the crown, the girls with long tassels of straight black hair hanging in front of each ear, all dressed in little flowing garments with sleeves like the wings of birds—these children sitting behind other little tables, their brushes in hand, and writing, from the teacher's dictation, strange shaped characters on coarse copy books—imagine this, and you have an ancient Japanese school in session, both teacher and pupils sitting upon the floor.

They never went beyond reading and counting upon the soroban (abacus). Things have changed now. The old has utterly passed away. A most efficient educational system, Western in theory and practice, is now in full operation throughout Japan. Commodious common schoolhouses, and imposing college and university buildings are dotted all over the country. A thoroughly graded system operates from the primary school to the Imperial University, which ranks with the highest American institutions. The official or government schools are worked out to cover the whole field of education except the religious feature, and this they are endeavoring to supply by an eclectic system of morality, both Oriental and Occidental.

Besides the regular course, which extends from the common school through the high common school, the middle school, the high school, to the university, there are government technical schools for every branch of trade and the professions—commercial, army, navy, agriculture, textile, mechanics, law, medicine, normal, language, etc.

The government maintains a special school for the teaching of every modern language of importance—English, French, German, Russian, Spanish, Italian, Chinese and Korean. But the English language precedes all other languages, and it is making such rapid progress that it is destined to become the spoken language of the nation.

One serious criticism against Japan's educational system is that it discourages private schools. Pupils of private schools of equal grade and efficiency with the government schools cannot pass on to the upper official schools with the same facility as pupils of the government schools. When we remember that the government schools are not free schools, and that many excellent private schools supported by foreign capital give students an education practically free, this discrimination of the government would seem to be unwise, and it is likely to be corrected in the near future.

The American nation should be especially proud of Japan's educational record, since it is from America that Japan has taken her lessons in Western learning.—Harper's Weekly.

The Razor a Saw.
"Do you know why we dip a razor in hot water before we begin shaving, and do you know why some ignorant men say a razor is 'tired'?" asked the barber. "Well, this is all due to the fact that a razor is a saw, not a knife, and it works like a saw, not like a knife. Examined under the microscope its edge, that looks so smooth to the naked eye, is seen to have innumerable and fine saw-teeth. When these teeth get clogged with dirt all the honing and strapping in the world will do no good—the razor is dull, and nothing will sharpen it. Then is the time the ignorant say it is 'tired,' and stop using it, but the wise know it is only clogged."

"The wise, though, don't suffer their razors to get clogged. They dip them in warm water before they use them, and thus the teeth are kept clean. It is because a razor is a saw that father is used on the beard. The father doesn't soften the beard, as so many people think; it stiffens it, so that it will present a firm and resisting surface to the razor."—New York World.

The Young Writer.
In the "Editor's Study" of Harper's Magazine Mr. Alden gives this encouragement to young writers:

"No young writer in whom the literary aspiration is a passion need, or really will, be cowed by the array of mighty and expert antagonists in the arena, whose names sound and resound so gloriously from the herald's trumpet, in full volume, re-enforced by past triumphs. Though a true and becoming modesty may well temper his ambition, it should in no degree suppress his ardent longing. These veterans, young aspirant, are indeed masters, but, as such, your exemplars. They also had their beginnings, hidden in the Nile, as used to be the sources of the Nile, 'not permitted to be seen small,' because they mastered their art before they exhibited as artists."

Indian Tea.
The number of persons employed in the tea industry throughout British India was, in 1902, 606,830 permanently and 90,940 temporarily. It is said that a capital of more than $200,000,000 is invested in the Indian tea industry.

SIGNS OF RAIN.
If "I will surely rain. The spiders from their cobwebs creep. Loud quack the ducks, the peacocks cry. The distant hills look clear and high. And restless are the snorting swine. While busy flies disturb the knee. Puss on the hearth, with velvet paws. Sits wiping off her whiskered jaws; The dog, quite altered in his taste, Quits mutton bones on grass to feast; From all these signs I see with sorrow Our work must be put off to-morrow."

"Language was given for the concealment of thought," quoted the wily citizen. "That is perfectly correct," answered Senator Sorghum; "if every man voted the way he talks we'd have all kinds of reform in no time."—Washington Star.

Fidget—"Do you ever take any notice of anonymous communications?" Midget—"No; not unless the writers' names are signed to them." Fidget—"Yes, I suppose that does make a difference; I never thought of that."—Boston Transcript.

"What do you think of our author friend's success?" "It's the irony of fate. After he has gone on record to the effect that the public is totally lacking in artistic discrimination and wants nothing but trash, he gets out a book that makes a universal hit."—Washington Star.

"Some men are so fortunate in securing good wives," remarked the man who wanted to be sympathetic. "Yes," replied Henpeck. "Now, my wife is just like sunshine about the house."

"Indeed! Well—really, I'm surprised—" "Yes, she's never there at all at night. Woman's right meetings and all that, you know."—Philadelphia Press.

Brick Versus Wooden Dwellings.
Experience shows that the average two and one-half story house with the usual fittings can be built for three or four dollars per square foot of ground covered, according to the quality of finish desired. The advance in the cost of building has been from twenty to thirty per cent. in the past ten years.

Many architects urge their clients, where they can afford it, to build of brick rather than wood. The cost of brick is relatively less to-day than it used to be. Wood shrinks, and swells, and burns. Wood has to be painted, and grows shabby with time. Brick takes on a better tone and texture with time; does not shrink and swell, and won't burn. Vines will grow on the brick wall; repairs are less; insurance rates are less; the brick house is cooler in summer and much more economically heated in winter, and built with a hollow wall it is entirely free from dampness. The cost of a brick over a wooden house is ten to fifteen per cent., as a general thing. But the difference is made up in smaller bills for coal and paint.—Good Housekeeping.

The Bible Brick.
E. G. Acheson, of Niagara Falls, while he was searching for the best clay to make crucibles, read the statements in the fifth chapter of Exodus about the use of straw and stubble in the manufacture of ancient Egyptian bricks. He procured some straw, had it boiled and mixed the dark red liquid thus obtained with clay. He found that the plasticity was greatly increased. Investigation showed that the tannin was the active agent, and when he treated over clay with a solution of tannin in water he obtained surprising results. The strength and plasticity of the clay are increased and the tendency to shrink and warp is greatly reduced. In this process sun drying is far superior to burning, and in ten days the clay is better tempered than in months or even years by the old process.

INDIANS ORGANIZE A PARTY OF THEIR OWN

Oklmulgee, I. T., March 31.—This morning an announcement was made in the House of Kings and the House Warriors that there will be a caucus of the Indian members of the council tonight, and every one is expected to attend. This caucus will be a secret one and no one except Indians by blood will be permitted in the caucus.

The caucus is called for the purpose of organizing an independent party to make a political future for the Indian after statehood comes.

This is the beginning of what promises to become one of the most important political moves in this country and if it succeeds will have a bearing on the politics of the new state for years to come. It proposes to organize the Indians into a party which shall be independent of the two great parties and to demand recognition and offices from that party for which it casts its vote. The Indians standing together would unquestionably be the balance of power in the new state and the party that lands their support can get the offices. The voice of the Indian vote would be a political recognition and a part of the movement is headed by

Ben Marshall, a prominent Creek politician. Identified with it are many prominent Indian politicians, such as Chief Porter, Colonel Robert L. Owen, Koley McIntosh, Wash Grayson, A. P. McKellop and others. In fact it is understood that there has not been an Indian approached who has not concurred in the idea.

In the United States Court.

For the Southern District of the Indian Territory, at Ada.

In re, the appointment of the election of the incorporated town of Ada, Indian Territory.

Order of appointment.
I, J. T. Dickerson, Judge of the United States Court of the Southern District of the Indian Territory, do hereby appoint M. M. Sanders, John W. Beard and Henry Brown, of Ward Number One; A. M. Croxton, W. H. Wheeler and R. W. Bonds, of Ward Number two; M. C. Heim, R. J. Ross and J. R. Lawrence of Ward Number Three; A. Reidel, Ed Wilson and W. F. Jones, of Ward Number four, as judges for their respective wards of the municipal election to be held in the incorporated town of Ada, Southern District, Indian Territory on the third day of April, A. D., 1906, said parties being represented to me as being qualified electors of the said town and householders therein.

LUNCHES WITHOUT PIC.

Sandwiches may well form the foundation of a well balanced cold lunch and a variety of fillings may be used. Any carefully cooked cold meat may be used, although pork and veal, being the hardest of all meats to digest, are objectionable, especially for children. Every housewife should strive to excel in making fine quality bread, biscuits, muffins, etc. Bread for sandwiches should be thinly sliced. Small loaves of biscuit dough or of yeast bread may be baked in corn cans, the small round slices being especially desirable for sandwiches. Brown bread sandwiches with filling of finely mashed, well seasoned baked beans are very nice, and should find a place in the lunch basket at least once a week. Meat for filling should be run through a chopper, or chopped very finely by hand, moistened with stock or sweet cream and carefully seasoned with salt, and a very little pepper is desired. Eggs placed in boiling water and kept hot, not boiling, for 20 minutes, then mashed with a fork, seasoned, and butter added to make a smooth paste are a delicious filling, also celery, chopped or sliced, and sprinkled with salt.

Nuts, especially peanuts, run through the chopper and simply moistened with butter form another kind sure to delight the children. This may be prepared and kept on hand in glass jars in cold weather. Seeded (not seedless) raisins washed thoroughly and run through the ever useful chopper, then placed on oil paper in a pan with perforated bottom and placed over a kettle of boiling water, with the pan tightly covered, and allowed to steam ten minutes, then put in glass jars will keep indefinitely and are always ready to spread between bread, biscuits or crackers with a piece of cheese, and most effectually takes the place of pie. Dates and figs are also nice used in the same way.

Dainty cup puddings of rice, tapioca, custard and squash or pumpkin prepared the same as for pies may be often baked with a large one for the table, making little extra work, and will be appreciated. The simplest water or cream sponge cake may be given occasionally and feed as an especial treat. Raw or nicely baked apples and a bottle of milk or cocoa are nice additions to the lunch basket.

The lunch should be put up daintily, each kind of food wrapped separately in oiled or buttered paper and a paper napkin provided. The child who is given simple, easily digested food will do his school work with far greater ease than one given a rich complicated diet that draws the blood from the brain to assist the overtaxed digestive organs in their laborious work. Wrong living is responsible for many a dull pupil, and thinking mothers everywhere are awakening to the fact.—Orange Judd Farmer.

DOCTORS WHO DIE EARLY.

The Principal Cause Is Said to Be Excessive Nervous Expenditure in Practice.

From the nature of his habits the physician is not subject to accidents, and, though he is brought into contact with infection to a greater extent than other men, his preventive means are successful and his mortality from infection is very low. Freedom from prolonged muscular strains and high blood tension apparently saves him from arteriosclerosis, but suicide claims many, and so do the drug habits acquired by the nervously exhausted. It has been said that three-fourths of French morphine users are physicians.

The cause of the physician's early death is evidently the excessive nervous expenditure, insufficient rest and defective nutrition. Inseparable from his calling, with its broken and restricted sleep, irregular hours of work, rest and meals, the worry when lives depend upon his judgment and the lack of a day of complete relaxation in each week. The physician who sees his patients every day in the week, month after month, and cannot learn to forget them when he goes home, merely burns the candle at both ends. He violates the law obeyed by every other animal, that there shall be short periods of moderate exertion interrupted by longer periods of rest when repairs are made. It is not too much work as a rule, but scattered work, which prevents rest.

Lemon Cookies.

Four cupsful of sifted flour, one teaspoonful of butter, two cupsful of sugar, juice of one lemon and the grated peel from the outside, three eggs whipped very light; beat thoroughly each ingredient, adding at the last a half-teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a teaspoonful of milk. Roll out as any cookies and bake a light brown.

Ginger Snaps.

One cupful molasses, one-half cupful sugar, one tablespoonful ginger, one teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful softened butter; flour to roll out thin. Heat the molasses and pour over the sugar; then add the other ingredients. Cut out in pretty forms and bake quickly.—N. Y. World.

Uncle Jerry.

"They say there's graftin' goin' on even in some of the penitentiaries," observed Uncle Jerry Peebles. "Well, that's the right place for graftin'."

Dance at the New Harris.

The ball at the Harris last evening was one that will long be remembered and never forgotten by those who assembled in the liveliest of the spacious parlors of that beautiful inn.

It was past nine-thirty when the invited guests had assembled and the monotony of the parting day had been forgotten in the rapturous glide and rhythmic step of the light hearted merry-makers. It was an occasion upon which there was a concord of friendly glee, and there was that satisfaction, glee and contentment of children at play. The hospitable proprietor of the Harris and his estimable wife had levied a tax upon the maiden beauty of no less than five of the commonwealths of the great Southwest. One of our neighboring cities contributed a princess, as a hostage, in token of her subjection to the prowess of beautiful Ada's social superiority. The wit and splendor of lovely women and the big hearted chivalry of stalwart manhood combined to make such a happy and as welcome as the flowers in May.

The assurances by the departing throng of a pleasant evening which the host and hostess received would have convinced a doubting Thomas that life is worth living. A guest.

Touched for $202.

Saturday afternoon there was a preliminary trial in progress in the U. S. commissioner's court. Will Buchanan, a Sulphur cider joint man, is accused of having on Friday in that town touched Ed Keith for a pocketbook containing $202.

Keith alleges that he and defendant were drinking in the latter's place during the day; that he had the above amount of money in his pocket just before engaging in a friendly scuffle with the defendant and missed it just a short time after; and that upon his raising a roar, the defendant offered to give him $100 and a note for the balance lost, just for the sake of having no trouble in

From Jug to Gutter.

Office Deputy U. S. Marshal Ed Brents celebrated his resignation Friday by seizing a suspicious looking trunk at the Frisco. After pulling out an interesting assortment of ladies and babies garments he came to three jugs of genuine red liquor. The contraband beverage was taken to the court house and the customary libation was poured upon the old curbstone altar.

TAXATION OF RAILROADS AN APPROACHING TROUBLE

Muskogee, I. T., March 31.—With the passage of the Curtis bill will come a struggle between the towns of Indian territory and the railroads over the matter of taxation.

Under the present laws there is no way to assess and collect from railroads. There are twelve roads operating in the territory, and out of that number there is but one that is paying taxes, and that one is the Frisco. This is a voluntary payment and is made by the road as a matter of policy, it is said.

The Curtis bill provides that the city council of a town may assess and collect taxes from railroads within its incorporated limits in the same manner that it collects taxes from other property in the same manner. It gives the city council

the power to pass property immediately.

The law provides that the railroads may take the matter of assessment into the district court for adjustment in case they think they are assessed too high, but they must do so immediately after notice of assessment is given and not use the court as a means of delaying payment of taxes.

The question of taxation and valuation is one that is of great interest in Indian Territory just now, and one of the big items, of course, is the taxation of railroads. Under the Curtis act the towns will endeavor to levy and collect taxes immediately. Under statehood it will be impossible to collect taxes under a state law less than twenty months from now. This is going to bring the question of a system of valuation to the fore.

WHY KIDNEY DISEASE IS DANGEROUS.

Neglect of the First Warning Symptoms is the Prime Cause of so Many Deaths from the Dreaded Bright's Disease.

It is Easily Curable in the Early Stages.

Kidney diseases are so destructive to human life because they do not manifest alarming symptoms until the constitution is seriously weakened and the strength exhausted. Then, too often, the remedies employed by many physicians are of indifferent or doubtful value, and the patient rapidly sinks under the disease. The wisest course is to apply a reliable kidney and liver remedy on the first appearance of the symptoms. A little uneasiness in the small of the back, digestive troubles, bowel irregularities and disorder in the urinary organs are matters of small moment in the estimation of strong men and women, yet they have a serious meaning. They show clearly that the kidneys are suffering and need help, which must be forthcoming at once to prevent serious, perhaps fatal consequences. A few doses of Prickly Ash Bitters at this time would prove of incalculable value in restoring the weakened organs to health. An investment of one dollar in a bottle of Prickly Ash Bitters when the disease is yet in the early stage will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills, besides the suffering that would surely follow should the disease be allowed to fasten itself in the body. The excellent curative power of Prickly Ash Bitters is not confined to the first stages of kidney disease. It is equally efficacious in severe or chronic cases. Physicians have used it as a last resort, in cases that defied their best efforts, with the most brilliant results, and it has shown its superiority over the many so-called kidney cures, now being loudly advertised, in instances innumerable.

Accept no substitute. Insist on having the genuine Prickly Ash Bitters with the large figure 8 in red on the front label.

Sold at Drug Stores, $1.00 per bottle.

PLIGHT OF THE SPINNER.

Occasions When a Business Man Is Forced to Speculate Against His Will.

"Were one to follow the footsteps of the average cotton buyer for the mill," writes the Textile Manufacturers' Journal, "he would find that immediately after the buyer had placed an order for a quantity of the staple he would find himself to the exchange, or some other broker, for the purpose of covering the probabilities of the future market. In other words, the cotton buyer for the mill must protect his purchases by dealing in cotton futures. At the recent convention of cotton manufacturers, at Manchester, England, this question was thoroughly exploited, just as it was a year ago at the convention held at Zurich.

"If this is legitimate business, then our ideas of what constitutes business are altogether wrong. The idea that a manufacturer who anticipates an order or who provides the raw cotton material for an order already in hand must go into the future market in order to guard against any possibility of probability of a fluctuation in the price of raw material is too ridiculously absurd for a sane man to place in the category of legitimate business transactions. And yet the yarn spinner is compelled to protect himself in this way against the future. He would not deem it safe to take any contract of any considerable size without gambling on the future."

SKI CONTESTS IN MICHIGAN

Tournaments at Ishpeming Prove Attractive to Scandinavians from All Points.

Ski contests are becoming more popular every winter at Ishpeming, Mich., reports the Milwaukee Sentinel. Visitors from all over the northwest, especially from Scandinavian settlements, attend the tournaments at Ishpeming. Ishpeming is the center for ski contests in the United States.

A ski slide is a strange sight to most Americans, but ski is one of the great sports of northern Europe, and it needs no explanation among Swedes and Norwegians. A slide is a steep and slippery incline, with a slight upward slant at the bottom, where the runners leave the track. The person who slides down must make a jump off from a place 20 feet high at the bottom of the slide.

The point of a contest is to see how far one can jump off his chute. Men who are expert have been known to gain such speed in going down the incline as to jump 90 feet.

Only those who keep their feet after making the jump from the raised platform can be counted in a contest. Recently an expert jumped 110 feet, but he could not stand on his feet, and so his record could not be entered officially.

All Used Up.

"I would like," he said, "to do something to cement our friendship." "I'm afraid," she replied, "that you never can. You're so stuck on yourself that I don't see where any more cement is to come from."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Difference of Opinion.

The best man at the wedding is sometimes hard to pick out—of course, the bride may consider him the bridegroom, but the maid of honor would speak for the handsome usher, and the bride's mother for the rich uncle who gave the handsomest gift, and the bride's little brother for the caterer, so there you are.—Home and Abroad.

Realism.

Why is the cow purple in the picture? Because the girl's parasol is red. The cow, in fact, is purple with rage. This is precisely what is meant by realism in art.—Puck.

GO TO A GOOD PLACE
BUSTER BROWN

It is just as easy to get clothes that will fit you as clothes that don't, that is if you go to a place where they carry clothes that fit. The garments we carry we have especially tailored for us, by the Globe Tailoring Co. They fit. If you go in one of our suits to a party or to church no one will say of you: "Why she must have borrowed those clothes from a neighbor." We look out, too, for the kind of cloth we put into our garments. They wear well and fit well. What more could you wish for? A fair price. This we have an eye on, also. For $11.50 a fine appearing $20 suit. For $16.50 a $22 suit, very pleasing. If you wish to have your own spring suit for Easter made, then we are sure you'll like to look at our dress goods. See the Globe Tailoring Co.'s samples on display next week.
